November 2013

Fall Workshop Transcriptions

Don't forget! This Saturday, November 16, from 9am-12pm, in Hubbell Hall. We'll have some library music available for purchase during our breaks, and some yummy snacks (of course!).

If you have any music originally written for any other instrumentation (or voice) and would like to share it at the workshop, don't forget to sign up at the meeting! If you aren't comfortable leading the piece you bring, don't let that stop you! There will be others willing to step in and lead for you.

Inclement Weather

It's that time of year again, when blizzards and icy roads preclude many members from making the drive to our Tuesday meetings. If the weather seems too severe or schools/evening activities are cancelled in the region, an email will be sent out as early as possible. Also, teachers will be notified and will call their students to make sure nobody braves the snow or ice in vain.

Chapter 50th

Starting after the new year, the chapter will be putting together a committee of several members who will coordinate the festivities surrounding the 50th anniversary of the Rochester Chapter. Please consider being a part of this group!

Composer of the Month

Carlo Zuccari

Born in Casalmaggiore on November 10, 1704, Carlo was a violin prodigy and composer who specialized in composition and counterpoint. His most important work, "Sonate a Violino, e Basso à Cembalo, Opera Prima" was published in 1747. Before retiring from public musical life in 1778, Carlo acted as director of the Accademia Filarmonica Milanese and was a star member of several orchestras. He was remembered by his students as a musician-scientist with an elite knowledge of the mechanics of composition.

Winter Gathering

Tuesday, December 10th is our Winter Gathering. Plan to arrive at the usual time and make sure to bring all those goodies straight to Hubbell Hall! The classes will be given the opportunity to rehearse their pieces in the usual classrooms as follows:

- >First Hour: 7:15-7:25
- >Second Hour: 7:30-7:40

Don't forget the delicious confections!
